

Dear Readers,

I want to share with you two pictures that made me smile this week. As some of you know we have a Geoffrey Field School band which meets every Tuesday with Miss Laney. There is an open invitation to any child who plays an instrument at school to join this group. They all thoroughly enjoy the experience of making music together as you can see from their faces.

Secondly, although this is a picture of autumn it just seemed appropriate as we seem to be entering spring –the start of the growing season- to look at a picture that show the fruits of the labour of all the children who work in the garden throughout the year. Every child in the school has an opportunity to work in the garden with Mr Richards. This work will be enhanced this year by our having gained a large grant to buy a brand new container to turn into an outside garden potting shed big enough to take a whole class.

Charlie Clare